Bryant Business Center opening this week

The Bryant Business Center officially opens for business Wednesday (April 29). But you can take a look in advance Tuesday (April 28).

The "business center" combines (recombines actually) under one roof the RI Small Business Development Center (RISBDC) and the RI Export Assistance Center (RIEAC). The "roof" is the former financial aid building on John Mowry Road.

A formal ribbon-cutting ceremony will rechristen and open the business center Wednesday between 5 and 7 p.m. An "open house" for employees is tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Business leaders and government officials, including Governor and Trustee Bruce Sundlun '80H and Rhode Island's economic development director, Joseph Paolino, have been invited to the opening. Wallie Roettger, executive vice-president/provost, will preside. Tours of the building will follow the ribbon-cutting.

Bryant students again will applaud and encourage Special Olympians as they cross the finish line Saturday (May 2).

Special Olympics tradition continues Saturday

Bryant's Special Olympics tradition continues Saturday (May 2).

For the 12th consecutive year, Bryant hosts the Northern Rhode Island Special Olympics Games. Rain date is Sunday (May 3).

"Together We Win" is this year's theme. Opening ceremonies begin at 9 a.m. at the track, where more than 500 athletes from northern Rhode Island will compete in 25-, 30-, and 50-meter runs, the long jump and relay races. They will be aided by 550 student volunteers, including an all-student Special Olympics management team.

In nearby "Olympic Town," athletes and guests will spend free time making ice cream sundaes, finger-painting, riding in a police car or fire engine, and being entertained by a magician.

The games are free and open to the public. For more information, call the public information office (ext. 6121).

Gambling report delivered, under review

The report on the scope of illegal gambling at Bryant has been delivered, and it was done by the date promised, April 15.

President Trueheart, federal Judge Bruce Selya, chair of Bryant's board of trustees, and Wallie Roettger, executive vice-president and provost, are reviewing its results and recommendations. They plan to release details around May 20.

In accepting the report, the president praised the task force for its "diligence and tenacity" in probing the issue of illegal gambling on campus.

President-emeritus William O'Hara '90, who chaired the task force, and all the task force members were "dedicated and serious" in their probe, Trueheart said in publicly thanking them for their effort.

Down-and-dirty action like the above will repeat itself Sunday at Bryant's annual Oozball tournament.

Oozball again to aid Special Olympics

Bryant's "swamp" will "ooze" with students Sunday (May 3).

The 10th annual Oozball competition begins at 10 a.m. Seventeen volleyball teams of eight students each will slither and slide in the muck and mud to raise money for Special Olympics.

Cost is $30 per team or $5 per person. Members of the winning team will walk away from the single-elimination competition with Oozball T-shirts, and they will have their names listed with the official Oozball trophy.

Last year's tourney raised $500.

More than 50 interviews with students, staff, faculty and other members of the Bryant community were conducted. The task force held 13 separate meetings, including six all-day Saturday sessions. To help gather information, the group utilized a toll-free telephone hotline and a drop box in the library.

Focus of the task force: illegal gambling on campus in general and, in particular, within the athletics program; assessing current systems and programs for identifying gambling problems and addressing them; recommending institutional policies and measures that might be needed to expand educational programs and revise student-conduct codes. The task force was careful not to cross paths with the state police investigation or any other disciplinary processes on campus.

In addition to O'Hara, task force members included professors William Haas '66H and Kristin Kennedy, Pawtucket Red Sox owner Ben Mondor '91H, attorney Bernard Jackvony '67, and Trustee-emeritus Walter Tillinghast '53, '88H.

May Breakfast Friday

Don't forget! Bryant's 25th annual May Breakfast is Friday in the South Dining Room. It runs from 7 to 8:15 a.m.

Enjoy scrambled eggs, ham, home fries, muffins, corn bread, O-J, coffee or tea, all served family style by Morin's Catering Service.

Tickets are $4.50. Call ext. 6050 for more information.

The idea of a "business center" for several of Bryant's principal outreach programs to the business community has been bandied about for several years. Relocating the financial aid office to the Unistructure made such a "shopping center" for information and consulting services a feasibility on campus.

The business center, thus, reunites the RISBDC with the RIEAC--a spinoff of the former. And it pulls together all the offices and the data center of the RIEAC, which were scattered in several Unistructure locations.

A resulting scenario: a small-business owner visits the business center for free consulting help from the RISBDC and decides to spend some extra time assessing the possibility of exporting the company's products or services. The owner might also pick up some actual trade leads at the RIEAC data center.

Well Fare

Bryant's Good Health Benefit (GHB) program presents "Stand Up For Your Back," a one-hour workshop to help you get rid of an aching back, on Wednesday (April 29).

The workshop is scheduled four times: 9 and 10:15 a.m. and 2 and 3:15 p.m. in the Bryant Center, Room 2A&B. Participants will learn how to lift and carry properly, how to analyze their work and home environments to make them safer for their backs, how to analyze their posture, and how to strengthen their backs through exercise.

GHB also presents on May 7 the fourth program in the "Diseases in the '90s" series: Cancer Challenge. Scheduled for Room 2A&B at 1 p.m., the program will discuss the challenges facing employees when either they or their family members have cancer.

Another GHB workshop on menopause is scheduled for May 12. It will look at "Hormonal Replacement Therapy & Sex and the Maturing Woman" at noon and 1 p.m. in Papitto Dining Room.

Also on May 12 in Room 2B, "Fitness Challenge" participants will meet again to chart progress and register points.

As always, supervisors are encouraged to allow flexibility in scheduling so employees can attend GHB sessions.

TKE brothers get ready to barrel roll

Thirty brothers from Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity relax at a kickoff ceremony before heading out on the annual 100-mile "barrel roll" across Rhode Island to benefit the Ronald McDonald House. The brothers expected to raise $2,500 for the home-away-from-home for families of children that are hospitalized.

Faculty Authors' Reception

Bryant's annual Faculty Authors' Reception is Tuesday (April 28) in Papitto Dining Room. At 3:30 p.m., 63 professors will be feted for written works published within the last year.

Mike Patterson, dean of the faculty, will preside.

Professor earns 'best paper' award

Management professor Subhashish Samaddar has earned a prestigious "best paper" award.

Granting the award was the Northeast Decision Sciences Institute at its 21st annual meeting in Cambridge in early April. Samaddar received the Robert W. Pearson Award for his refereed proceedings article, "A Monolithic Approach for Production Scheduling in a Job Shop."

Samaddar's paper was selected best in the "contribution to theory" category. It competed against papers submitted by professors at colleges and universities throughout the Northeast.

Samaddar also presented his award-winning paper at a session on "operations scheduling." The award was presented to him at a special luncheon.

Subhashish Samaddar accepts the Robert W. Pearson Award from Margaret Naumes, president of Northeast Decision Sciences Institute, and Robert Pearson, chairman of the board of F. W. Industries, Inc.

● Congratulations to Margaret Drugovich. She has been promoted to associate director from assistant director in the planning and institutional research office. Nice job, Margaret!

● Adrienne, oldest daughter of Bill Rupp of the public information office, is going under--"down under" that is. She has been accepted into the Youth for Understanding International Exchange program. A sophomore at Coventry High School, Adrienne will spend six months in Australia beginning in January. Congratulations, Adrienne!

● Fred Kenney sends his heartfelt thanks to his many friends at Bryant for their gifts, cards, and good wishes on his recent retirement. "I'll miss everybody," says the former director of financial aid. Goodbye and good luck, Fred!

● Bettie Weber tells me her husband, Ken, has just released a new book on hiking. Available at Audubon and Walden bookstores, "More Walks and Rambles" has 40 new hikes in Rhode Island. Just in time for Mother's and Father's Day!

● Dick Alberg has become a grandfather once again. His daughter, Ruth, formerly of the development office, and her husband, Michael, are the proud parents of Jeffrey Michael. Born April 13, weighing 8 lbs. 2 ozs, Jeffrey joins his brother, Daniel. Hope everyone is doing well!

● Erwin Robinson of the RISBDC tells me, with just a little hint of pride, that his son, Peter, has been appointed director of administration and finance of the International Peace Academy. The New York City academy, affiliated with the United Nations, works behind the scenes to settle international disputes.

Health fair offered a 'magic touch'

Bryant's annual "health fair" attracted more than 200 students and employees to the Bryant Center in mid-April. A student is shown here feeling the magic touch of a masseur from Massage Therapy Associates. The fair was sponsored by health services.
